

Pres message November

Fall is certainly here. As I write this it's 9C and raining off and on. Most of the leaves are off the trees although the oaks seem to be holding on to theirs tightly. A few phlox are still flowering and the Autumn Joy stonecrop are magnificent. I'm enjoying what is left in the garden while it lasts.

How are all your fall sewing projects coming along? I've been procrastinating like mad! I still haven't quilted Colleen and Dave's quilt but I've done a couple of comfort quilts and gotten a bunch of other things ready to quilt. My excuse is that I don't have the backing yet, but since I work in a quilt store and probably know where all the stores in a 200km radius are located, that really doesn't hold water. I've promised it will be done by Christmas so I guess I'd better go buy that backing!

We are looking for a few good people to serve on next year's executive and the program committee. The program is pretty much set into the spring and there are still lots of ideas from the brainstorming session that could be used. We'll talk more about executive positions at the December meeting

Just a reminder that our meeting is at Country Concessions in Cookstown this month. The date is November 4, our usual day, at 7 PM. Remember to bring any comfort quilts, pillow cases, Santa sacks or stockings you have finished. We will have all the usual agenda items. There will be time to shop and Country Concessions is giving us a 25% discount on all purchases except machines. Hope to see you all there!
